Sunil Engineering Corporation and ELCON CABLE TRAY

S PVT. LTD. manufacture a variety of cable trays and accessories, including perforated, ladder, and wire mesh trays, along with junction boxes and fittings. They focus on high-quality fabrication and customized solutions to meet client-specific requirements.

Types of Cable Tray Accessories

Brackets and Hold-Downs: Secure trays to walls, ceilings, or floors, providing stability in high-vibration environments. Covers and Cover Clamps: Protect cables from dust, debris, and external damage. Splicers and Connectors: Join tray sections seamlessly, maintaining structural integrity.

End Caps and Divider Strips: Organize cables and prevent interference between different cable types. Bends, Elbows, Tees, and Reducers: Facilitate routing around obstacles and changes in direction. Grounding Accessories: Ensure electrical safety and reduce the risk of malfunctions.

Choosing a ManufacturerWhen selecting a cable tray accessory manufacturer, consider: Product range and compatibility with your existing cable tray systems. Material quality (aluminum, steel, fiberglass) for durability and corrosion resistance. Certifications such as UL listing for safety compliance.

Customization options for unique project requirements. Technical support and installation guidance to ensure proper system integration. These manufacturers provide reliable solutions for industrial, commercial, and infrastructure projects, helping maintain organized, safe, and efficient cable management systems.
