

Lc fiber optic connector APC

Overview

For high-performance RF applications like CATV, L-Band, and GPS fiber links, APC connectors (SC/APC) are the best option due to their superior reflection control.

Key Takeaways

An LC/APC connector is a small form-factor fiber optic connector with an 8° angled ferrule end face, designed to minimize back-reflection and optimize signal performance.

Overview

The L

C (Lucent Connector) is a compact fiber optic connector with a 1.25 mm ferrule, making it ideal for high-density applications such as data centers and telecom networks.

The AP

C (Angled Physical Contact) polish refers to the 8° angled end face of the ferrule, which directs reflected light into the fiber cladding rather than back to the source, significantly reducing return loss to around -60 dB. This makes LC/APC connectors particularly suitable for high-frequency RF, CATV, L-Band satellite, and GPS applications where signal reflections can degrade performance.

Design and Features

Ferrule: Spring-loaded ceramic ferrule, 1.25 mm in diameter, ensuring precise fiber alignment. Polish: 8° angled end face (APC) to minimize back-reflection.

Boot Color: Typically green for LC/APC to distinguish from LC/PC (blue) connectors.

Insertion Loss: Low, typically
