Key Takeaways

Quick-connect fiber optic connectors typically range from $2 to $15 per connector, depending on type, mode, and quantity. OverviewQuick-connect fiber optic connectors are designed for fast, field-ready terminations without the need for epoxy or extensive polishing. They are available in singlemode and multimode configurations and commonly come in SC, LC, ST, and FC styles.

These connectors are ideal for emergency repairs, temporary installations, or semi-permanent setups, providing low insertion loss and reliable optical performance with minimal tools and expertise (Lanshack).

Typical Pricing

Single connectors: Prices generally range from $2 to $10 each, depending on the connector type and mode (singlemode or multimode) (Lanshack, DigiKey). Multi-packs: Retailers like Amazon offer packs of 12 or more connectors, with prices ranging from $20 to $80 per pack, which can reduce the per-unit cost (Amazon). Specialty connectors: Quick termination connectors from brands like Corning Unicam, 3M Hot Melt, or FITEL Splice-On may cost $10–$15 per connector due to higher performance or specialized features (Fosco Connect).

Brand and quality: Premium brands or connectors with specialized ferrules (e.g., ceramic pre-polished) may cost more but offer better durability and lower insertion loss.

Where to Buy

Lanshack: Offers pre-polished simplex quick connectors for fast field installation. Amazon: Provides multi-packs and a variety of connector types for both singlemode and multimode applications.

Digi

Key: Stocks a wide selection of high-performance fiber optic connectors suitable for telecom, industrial, and data center applications.

F

S and Fosco Connect: Offer termination kits and specialty quick-connect solutions for professional installations.
