Factors Affecting Price

Material: Steel, stainless steel, aluminum, or FRP. Hot-dip galvanized steel is common for corrosion resistance. Type: Ladder, perforated, or wire mesh.

Ladder trays are typically heavier and more expensive. Load Rating: Light-duty (100kg/m), medium-duty (250kg/m), or heavy-duty (400kg/m). Higher load ratings increase cost.

Finish: Powder-coated or galvanized finishes affect durability and price. Accessories: Bends, tees, reducers, and supports are usually priced separately. Project Size: Bulk orders often receive discounted rates.

How to Request a QuotePrepare a Bill of Quantities (BOQ) with tray lengths, widths, load requirements, and accessories. Specify material type and finish (e.g., hot-dip galvanized steel, powder-coated). Indicate installation environment (indoor, outdoor, coastal, or desert) to ensure proper corrosion protection.

Contact suppliers directly via their websites or B2B portals to receive a custom quotation. By providing these details, suppliers can give accurate pricing and delivery timelines for steel cable trays in Saudi Arabia.
