Key Takeaways

Trough-type cable trays in Venezuela typically range from $2 to $25 per meter, depending on material, type, and order quantity.

Overview of Trough-

Type Cable TraysTrough-type cable trays are widely used in industrial and commercial settings to support and protect electrical and communication cables. They are suitable for high-hazard, temperature-sensitive, or corrosive environments and are constructed from steel, aluminum, or fiberglass reinforced plastic (FRP) for durability and structural strength. Their design ensures optimal cable protection, ease of installation, and long-term reliability across demanding applications such as manufacturing plants, mining, petrochemical facilities, power generation, and oil refineries.

Material and Design Options

Galvanized Steel: Most common, balances cost and durability, resistant to moderate corrosion. Stainless Steel: Higher corrosion resistance, suitable for harsh environments, more expensive. Aluminum: Lightweight and rust-proof, slightly pricier than steel.

Fiberglass Reinforced Plastic (FRP): Ideal for corrosive or high-moisture areas, long service life. Trough-type trays can be perforated, solid-bottom, or fully enclosed, offering varying levels of protection and airflow for cable systems.

Price Considerations

Cable tray pricing in Venezuela depends on several factors: material, coating, size, and supplier margins. Average prices per meter range from $2 to $25, with bulk orders potentially reducing costs by 20–40%. Additional cost factors include: Coating: Hot-dip galvanized (HDG) or powder-coated trays increase corrosion resistance but raise upfront costs.

Tray Dimensions: Wider or thicker trays require more material, increasing price. Installation and Accessories: Labor and mounting hardware add to total project cost. Supplier and Shipping: Local suppliers like Brilltech Engineers Pvt.

Ltd. and Jeetmull Jaichandlall (P) Ltd. provide tailored solutions and can offer quotes based on project specifications.
